

FIRST DATE - Sarah

SARAH looks at him intensely as he talks, nodding. We see only one wine glass in front of her. She is leaning in.

DAN

Anyway, I'm blabbering. Just, thank you for being so real. I'm really enjoying the dinner.

SARAH

(chuckling)

I am too. Actually...

She pauses and squints, as if she's trying to read him.

DAN

What?

SARAH

Well, this is actually only my second date with anyone I met online.

DAN

Really? Your profile said you've been active for over a year.

SARAH

I mean, I have been. I've texted with a lot of guys, I just... I had a really bad date awhile ago. So I've been reluctant.

DAN

Oh shit. What happened?

SARAH

Um. I don't know. It's not really worth getting into. The guy was just really pushy. He was super rude to the waitress the whole night. And then...it was just awkward.

DAN

Oh man, that sucks.

SARAH

Yeah, I mean nothing extreme happened. It just knocked my confidence down a little. Anyway, the whole point of me bringing it up is to say that I'm really having fun tonight, too, and it's a very pleasant surprise.